

Abstract of the Invention

A compound having a photoinitiator component joined to a hydrophilic carrier component. The carrier component may contain sufficient hydrophilicity such that the entire compound is water-soluble or water-emulsifiable. The compounds may be employed in light sensitive formulations such as photoresists.